SUNDT TO BUILD TEXAS INSTRUMENTS BUILDING

TUCSON, Ariz. (September 6, 2018) – Sundt Construction, Inc. (www.sundt.com) was awarded a construction manager at risk contract to build the new Texas Instruments facility in Tucson.

“We are excited to be selected for another significant office project in Tucson,” said Ian McDowell, Vice President and Tucson Regional Director for the company’s Building Group, Southwest District. “This project is another good indicator that Tucson is an attractive place for the highest caliber companies to build their teams.”

Sundt was selected to construct the new facility that will include administrative space as well as electronic laboratories to expand the current Tucson presence of Texas Instruments. Preconstruction will begin immediately, and work will commence in early 2019.

Texas Instruments is a Fortune 500 technology company with over 70,000 employees operating in 35 countries. It has been on Fortune's Most Admired Companies List for 10 consecutive years.

About Sundt

Sundt Construction, Inc. (www.sundt.com) is one of the country’s largest and most respected general contractors. The 128-year-old firm specializes in building, industrial, transportation and concrete work and is known for its commitment to quality and innovative approach to construction services. Sundt has 11 offices throughout Texas, Arizona, California and Utah and is 100 percent owned by its approximately 2,000 employees. Sundt currently is ranked the 65th largest construction company in the United States by ENR, the industry’s principal trade magazine. The company is consistently ranked among the Best Places to Work by business publications in multiple cities and it was named the nation’s safest construction company by the Associated General Contractors of America twice in a decade – an honor no other contractor can claim. Sundt’s charitable arm, the Sundt Foundation, recently crossed the $8.6 million mark in donations made to hundreds of nonprofit organizations across the country.
